TrayPerf is a small (under 10 kb) lightweight application that displays CPU and bandwidth consumption on a tray icon. It uses the DirectDraw surfaces that the system creates for the tray icon. When the tray icon is moved into a new location, TrayPerf will automatically adjust the graph's appearance to show the new location. TrayPerf utilizes the tray icon's system transparency to keep an accurate view of the current system's memory usage. TrayPerf Statistics: TrayPerf can display system information on a tray icon's tooltip, using the API's "Text" command. TrayPerf uses a new button to toggle this functionality. This button, and TrayPerf's interface, can be customized using resources from TweakingTool. TrayPerf can also display a tooltip with information from the Tray-Perf.com statistics server. TrayPerf can be set to display this information every 30 minutes, 24 hours, 5 days, 7 days, 1 month, 3 months, 6 months, 1 year, 2 years, 3 years, 4 years, 5 years, 6 years, or 8 years. TrayPerf Features: + TrayPerf uses DirectDraw surfaces. + TrayPerf's tray icon transparency can be set and modified using TweakingTool. + TrayPerf can be set to auto-adjust the graph's appearance to the new location, and to show or hide the graphs and tooltips. + TrayPerf uses a small, lightweight, and efficient plug-in that does not require a server installation. + TrayPerf has the ability to capture up to two resource requests simultaneously. + TrayPerf utilizes the tray icon's system transparency. + TrayPerf can be set to display system information on a tray icon's tooltip. + TrayPerf can be set to display system information on a tray icon's tooltip.
