This feature works for all supported formats (image, raster, vector). Fixed several minor issues. Efficacy and safety of biapenem monotherapy for bacterial infections in the elderly. The antibacterial activities and safety of biapenem (BIPM) monotherapy were compared with those of imipenem/cilastatin (IPM/CS) and piperacillin/tazobactam (PTZ) monotherapy in elderly patients with various types of infections. Two multicenter open-label noncomparative trials were conducted in patients aged 75 years or older with infections requiring treatment with an antibiotic at a dose of 1 g BIPM q6h. The primary endpoint was the clinical success rate at the test-of-cure (TOC) visit. Clinical success was defined as resolution of the infection and absence of recurrence for ≥ 7 days without additional therapy for the infection. Clinical success was observed in 124/131 (94.5%) of patients treated with BIPM, 133/134 (99.3%) of those treated with IPM/CS and 117/134 (87.3%) of those treated with PTZ. All pathogens were eradicated in 106 (77.9%) of the 132 patients with a favorable clinical response to BIPM therapy. Adverse events were reported in 39.7% of patients treated with BIPM, 46.2% of those treated with IPM/CS and 35.8% of those treated with PTZ. The present study demonstrates the overall safety and high rate of clinical success of BIPM monotherapy in elderly patients with bacterial infections. [MUSIC] [SOUND] [MUSIC] [SOUND] All right, so here's the deal. We've been kind of having a little bit of a misunderstanding. I'm still kind of getting to know you. Do you want to learn some new things? -
