Not Angka Sang Bumi Ruwa Jurai | Tested ((BETTER))

The answer is not in fewer options, but in digital experience. In the primitive, God, like man, must be comprehended, but where is it impossible to understand him? Where? Based on this, the idea comes that in Nature God must refer to Her aspects: infinite, boundless, unconditional. Why should God be one level, or only one level? Because only one-level God can explain the infinite Essence. And how can you explain the infinite level if there is no limb that could tell us this information, because no one knows it? Therefore, we simply believe that God is one, and that there is only one level in the world, or the world is one, but the level is different, though one. We do not say that every person has his own only father, mother, and he should get to know them. For now, we just say that something is not clear to us, and we are trying to understand. I suggest that it is impossible to fully comprehend the nature of God. And how can one comprehend an infinite being if He cannot even be seen? I've tried to explain this before, I just want to say it again. After all, knowing what you cannot imagine and see, this is infinite, you simply will not have time to understand Him! The object of knowledge is something that you can read about or feel. This is evolution, which moves according to other laws than even in the complex physical world. Now I understand that the more perfect natural forms in which a person can live are opposed to other forms that fit more into the reality of a person. For a higher development, a person needs to think more, and for a more complete development, he needs less time. In one of my articles, I wrote that it is difficult when the ground is under your feet, but not above your head. And the Earth is only a small point of the Universe. And the way it interacts with us can be denoted by the phrase: "What is the World, such is the Man." Where and how can one find information about how people can live in the world we find ourselves in? In what I have described, there is no definite point to look for information. There are points in space and there are points in time. They need to be found correctly and
